

WILSON'S WESTERN TRIP

CAPTURED WEST WITH HIS PERSONALITY AND SPEECHES.

Some of the Clear Presentations of the Issues as Uttered by Wilson on His Trip.

Governor Woodrow Wilson made a western trip last week. At Kansas City he was introduced to an immense audience by Speaker Champ Clark, who won a 15 minutes' cheer by merely announcing: "Without further ado I will present to you the twenty-seventh President of the United States." Governor Wilson among other things said:

"I understand from the press reports that Mr. Roosevelt was distressed by my suggestion the other day that the United States Steel Corporation was back of his plan for controlling the Trusts. He interpreted my remark to mean that they were supporting him with their money. I was not thinking about money. I do not know whether they are supporting him with their money or not; that does not make any difference.

"What I meant was, they are supporting him with their thought, and their thought is not our thought. I meant, and I say again, that the kind of control which he proposes is the kind of control which the United States Steel Corporation wants. I am perfectly willing to admit that they think it is best for the country. My point is that this is a method conceived from the point of view of the very men who are to be controlled, and that that is just the wrong point of view from which to conceive it."

"I for one," said Wilson at another city, "deny that the program of the third party is a progressive platform. Mind you, it is a philanthropic platform: they want to do all sorts of things for the working people, or for the over-worked women and for the children who ought not to work at all, but that program of philanthropy is not a progressive platform until, and unless, they set the Government free from the special interests that have controlled it."

"I believe with the Democratic platform," he said at another point, "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable; and if I become President of the United States, I will do everything in my power to destroy monopoly. I will never consent to its adoption and mere regulation, for I know that there are ways of breaking up monopoly, a better choice from merely being over-ridden by them and controlling them by regulation."

Speaking of Lincoln, Governor Wilson said that he believed "the nation is again face to face with the issues of life and death." Without mentioning Colonel Roosevelt by name, he referred to the "comparison which the Bull Moose delights in making between himself and Lincoln."

"When gentlemen proposing to legalize monopoly," went on the Governor, "profess to speak in the name of Lincoln it is as if those who have intended to perpetuate human slavery should have dared to speak in the name of the great emancipator. We are going to repudiate this slavery just as emphatically as we repudiated the other, and we are not going to look to the gentlemen who establish that slavery in order to accomplish our liberty."

"We know the voice; the voice is the voice of Esau, though the touch may be the touch of Jacob. But we are not going to be touched. We have grown a little too familiar with the recent eccentric orbit of the gentleman who is now trying to swing into the course of the people to be misled. We are not gazing upon an empty heaven, for we know where the fixed constellations are, and we are going to follow the old stars of liberty."

At Chicago a great crowd of over 100,000 people gave Wilson a warm welcome. He spoke a number of times in that city, saying among other things:

"We are dissatisfied with the course of our national Government. It is not confined to some of the State governments and some of the cities. We feel that something intervenes between the people of the United States and the control of their own affairs at Washington."

"Every now and again we distinguish the spokesman of these forces that hold us off from our own affairs, as, for instance, when the recently senior Senator from Rhode Island, because his weather eye apprised him that it was time, concluded to retire. Everybody who thought of the United States Senate thought of Mr. Aldrich as the spokesman of those interests which the Government of the United States found no way to escape. His leadership, his spokesmanship, was open. I had almost said avowed, and there were considerations governing the measure which he suggested to the Senate of the United States which he refused to disclose to his fellow-Senators, and the Senate of the United States voted schedules of the tariff which he refused to explain to them. The very members of the Finance Committee, if they were not in sympathy with Mr. Aldrich, could not have access to his information."

"So, in whichever direction we turn, we find that something has control of the public affairs of this country with which we have not yet successfully reckoned. And now we are going to reckon with them."

Referring to the pre-convention campaigns of President Taft and former President Roosevelt, at another point, Governor Wilson said:

"All the while I was trying to formulate just what it was they were debating with one another, and as nearly as I could make out, it was this: Which of the two had been more implicated in the things which had discredited the Republican party, and then I asked myself what was it that had discredited or at any rate threatened to discredit the great party which has so long governed this country, and it was perfectly obvious that the gentlemen were debating which of them had been the more subject of those influences which we are now aware have created most of the complications which we wish to correct in our economic development."

"The men who have promoted the great combinations of capital and the widespread understandings amongst those who are conducting the industry of this country, which have dominated not only our business but our politics, are the men whose connections with the two candidates were being most debated. They are being debated yet in the investigation which is going on under the chairmanship of Mr. Clapp, of the Senate Committee in Washington so that, underneath, lies this feeling, that certain privileged groups have dominated the Government of America, otherwise why should they be arguing which had the more intimate connection with the system?"

"For these gentlemen are not disconnected with one another. They are connected with various branches of the privileged classes in this country and they are so interested in the dictatorates of banks and railroads and mining companies and manufacturing enterprises and commercial houses that they constitute a single controlling body. There are some men among them who are members of at least 66 Boards of Directors of the most important undertakings in the country, and the gentlemen, about 30, I believe, who constitute the directors of the United States Steel Corporation, are so connected, by being presidents or vice presidents or directors in the railroad corporations of this country, that they control 55 per cent. of the railways of the United States. These are the gentlemen who are now backing the program of the leader of the third party. Mark you, I am not impeaching their motives; they may think they are right; but my point is that they are not intending to change in the least essential particular the system of control which has already been established, but are seeking to establish it by a new method. The old method was campaign contributions, the new method is legalized monopoly and the superintendence by the Government of the very processes by which they have established their predominance."

Governor Wilson neatly turned the tables upon Roosevelt's attempt to put him in the "Aa-nias Club" by telling the story of two political rivals in Virginia who were engaging in joint debate. When a supporter of the politician who was getting the worst of the controversy realized that the audience was in sympathy with his friend's rival, he shouted:

"Tom, call him a liar and make it a fight."

"Apparently," said the Governor, "the thing has reached that stage but I cannot be tempted off the absolutely impregnable ground upon which I stand."

Pointing out that both wings of the Republican party have refused to accept the tariff as the real issue of the campaign, Governor Wilson continued: "Both stand pat on the tariff, and while one mildly deplores the leadership and the rule of the Trusts the other one proposes to legitimize the issues upon which the battle was joined. I don't see anything to do therefore but for the Democrats to march through an unoccupied field to the possession of the Government. I see no enemy in sight. They have decamped, for the nation chose the battle ground and we find no enemy there drawn up in serried ranks. It is a very fatiguing campaign therefore, for it is a campaign of hide-and-seek; you cannot guess where you will find them tomorrow, and while this is strategy, it is the strategy of confessed defeat."

Bird-man Flies at Gettysburg.

On last Friday and Saturday Gettysburg was treated to the first successful fly by a bird-man, the flight on Friday lasting sixteen minutes and covering about six miles. Frederick Eells of Rochester, N. Y., was the aviator and he used a Rambler aeroplane. He had given an exhibition at the Bedford county fair and came to Gettysburg as a convenient point on his way to his next stand. The machine was kept in a tent along Long Lane. On Friday the course of the flight was over the town in a big circle and then a part of the battlefield was covered. It was a beautiful sight without any mishap of any kind and was witnessed by a number of our people. The flight on Saturday was done as easily and gracefully as on the day before and covered the town and battlefield. Saturday being Tipton Day the flight was witnessed by hundreds of the excursionists. To Mr. Eells belongs the record of the first successful flight at Gettysburg and the exhibition was greatly enjoyed by our people.

Parent-Teachers Association.

The October Parent-Teachers' Association meeting was held at the High School building on last Friday evening, the vice president, Mrs. Wm. Arch. McClean presiding. The meeting opened with a duet by Mrs. J. B. Baker and Miss Reba Miller. A recitation by Miss Kitzmiller was next feature. Miss Reba Miller delighted the audience with a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Baker. Miss Ruth Hamilton gave a reading. The evening having been designated as one to be devoted to the playground Robt. C. Miller, editor of "Star and Sentinel," told the story of the gift of the great playground to Gettysburg by Wm. B. Kurtz. He referred to the fact that the children had already taken possession of the ground and a company could be found there at almost any hour when school was not in session and that the High School football team had been practicing on the ground every evening. He referred to the fact that the conveyance for Homan land was completed and consideration was expected to be completed at a very early date. Mr. Miller also referred to a conversation he had with Mr. Kurtz, as to best methods of supporting playground after being built and completely equipped. A club for the purpose had been suggested and talked over but did not seem to answer the purpose. It had been suggested to Mr. Kurtz that the School Board as representing the town and with help of Parent-Teachers' Association might take charge of the maintenance. Mr. Kurtz has arrived at no conclusion as to this detail and will submit his proposition to the town when the time comes.

Calvin Hamilton spoke on playground and that the town had a right to congratulate itself on the magnificent gift that had been made. He referred to the fact that the city of Philadelphia was spending over a million dollars for a playground and Gettysburg was presented with such an institution that should be an easy matter for the town to support.

Miss Helen Cope briefly spoke upon the gift of the playground that had greatly delighted the children when announced to them.

Prof. Burgoon referred to the fact of the presence of a state officer during the week to whom report of the playground was made and the officer congratulated the town over the fact that it would be in the very front ranks with this institution. At the conclusion of the expressions over the gift of the playground, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the Parent-Teachers' Association of Gettysburg extend to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Kurtz an expression of the heartfelt appreciation of the people of Gettysburg for the magnificent memorial gift of the Playground, Park, assuring them that the rich blessing given to the children is a joy deeply shared by the parenthood of the town.

A committee of three was authorized to be appointed to confer with Mr. Kurtz and a similar committee of the School Board as to plans the association may be permitted to assume in relation to the support of the playground.

When the regular business was taken up, the committee on manual training reported that room devoted to same had been equipped with twenty benches. That there was not enough money in sight to fully pay for all equipment. That a few supplies were needed, among others 16 back saws. Parents were invited to visit the room from 2.15 to 4 p. m. four days in week when instruction was being given. The school directors had employed a young man from college who had taken a course in manual training to instruct the class.

The meeting of Congress of Mothers this week was called to the attention of the association with right to name three delegates, who with president would be entitled to be members of the congress. Miss Ruth Hamilton, Mrs. Robt. C. Miller and Mrs. Wm. Arch. McClean were elected the three delegates.

At the close of the meeting it was suggested that the association purchase a large pennant to be exhibited each month in the school room sending the most parents of the school children to the meetings of the association. The children would see that the parents attended to gain for their rooms the pennant.

Mrs. H. B. Nixon, Miss Rachel Scott and Mrs. Sam Weiser were appointed program committee for next meeting on Nov. 5 and the importance of this meeting was urged, as the annual election of officers would take place then.

Finkenbinder Arrested.

County Detective Chas. H. Wilson brought to the Adams county jail on last Thursday morning, D. Rolla Finkenbinder, indicted at the Aug. court for bigamy. He was captured at Sagerstown, Crawford county, Pa., after some clever work by Mr. Wilson. He had sued wife No. 1 for divorce in Franklin county and before the determination of the case married Miss Jennie Thomas of this place on Feb. 20, last. The Franklin county court later refused the divorce. Joseph Thomas, father of wife No. 2, raised $600, all his savings, and put up the same as bail for the appearance of Finkenbinder at the August court, and upon failure of defendant to appear at that time the bond was forfeited but an order was made that it be resided if he appeared at the next court. The arrest of Finkenbinder fortunately saved Mr. Thomas from a very severe loss. It is said to be likely that defendant will plead guilty to charge against him at the November court.

A collection will be lifted for the benefit of the Church.

William Martin, a cousin of the bride, formerly of Gettysburg, but now assistant to Rev. Crotty at Centralia, was also present in the sanctuary. The bridesmaid was Miss Elizabeth Flynn of Centralia, and Thos. Moran of Philadelphia, was best man. The bride and bridesmaid were gowned exactly alike—in beautiful dark blue traveling suits with hats to match. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the parochial residence by the bride's aunts, Misses Sarah and Emma Shorb. Mr. and Mrs. Howarth will reside in Philadelphia, where the groom is engaged in business. The bride is a sister of Frank Martin of McSherrytown and is well known in this place.

Rock, were united in the bonds of matrimony by Rev. Fr. Kohl, rector of Conewago Chapel. They were attended by Miss Gertrude Groft of Mt. Rock, sister of the bride, and Harry Shrader of Irishtown, cousin of the bride. After the ceremony the happy couple were given a wedding dinner at the home of the bride.

Wagner of Philadelphia, were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. Dow Ott of Gettysburg, pastor of M. E. Church of New Oxford.

SNYDER-MUMMA.—Miss Susan Mumma, youngest daughter of the late Dr. E. W. and Mrs. Mumma, and Harry Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Snyder, all of Bendersville, were quietly married at Harrisburg on Saturday, Sept. 28th. The newly wedded couple will reside in Bendersville.

Mummer's Parade for Hallowe'en.

Hallowe'en in Gettysburg seems to have become another name for license of rough-house play, often destructive of property and dangerous. A young, enterprising business man of the town, delighting in seeing children have a good time, has conceived the idea that the same energy could be put into the great sport of a frolic that would be a wholesome change. This young business man, Allen B. Plank, is planning a new celebration for Hallowe'en of 1912. He proposes the great frolic of a mummer's parade and will bear whatever expense may attend the same.

He has authorized the offering of a prize of $5 for the most grotesquely gowned mummer participating in the parade from start to finish on Hallowe'en. All school children, college students, in fact every one who joins in the parade may compete for the prize.

Information will be given later of the point from which the mummer's parade will start. Mr. Plank is arranging for the Citizens' Band and the College Band to take part in the parade. A course will be laid out covering the greater part of the town so the greatest number may enjoy the fun. People along the line of march may burn red light to help along the spectacle. The most fantastic and grotesque garb will be the aim of every mummer. The parade will wind up in the Square with a review before the judges of the mummies and the prize will be awarded.

The plans of Mr. Plank are admirable and there is no doubt that children and grown-ups will enter them enthusiastically to substitute for rough-house play the great sport of a mummer's frolic. Let the children get busy for Hallowe'en in planning grotesque costumes. Get your ideas going, you may be the very one to win that prize, and what fine sport it would be to take a prize for being the best mummer, for giving the best and longest laugh through the town.

Eldon's Politics.

Democrats throughout the county should be working for Vincent A. Collins, Democratic candidate for the Legislature, who will faithfully and consistently vote and support the Democratic party and measures in the next Legislature. It should be a relief to Republicans to vote for Mr. Collins, a man who knows what party he belongs to, and such a contrast to his opponent in this particular. The Republican County Committee held a meeting in Gettysburg last Saturday and Mr. Eldon was not present. He doesn't belong to the Republican party. He is a Bull Moose, goes to Bull Moose meetings but wouldn't be caught at a Republican meeting. Eldon has repudiated the Republican party and Republicans should give their votes to Mr. Collins.

U. B. Appointments.

At the close of the Pennsylvania Conference of the United Brethren Church the following appointments were announced in the Adams county charges: Bendersville, F. L. Stine. Biglerville, N. B. S. Thomas. Gettysburg, J. C. Gardner. Others our people will be interested in are the following: Carlisle Circuit, J. R. Houseman. Chambersburg, J. E. Kleffman. Frederick, H. H. Hummelhaugh. ### Breeder of Trusts.

When Roosevelt went into the White House Chair there were 149 Trusts capitalized at three thousand million dollars. When he went out of office, he left the country with 1,020 Trusts on the people's hands capitalized at thirty-one thousand million dollars. In the face of these facts there are some who would put him back into office, in order to run the list of Trusts up to 2,040 with a capitalized sum of sixty-two thousand million dollars.

William Jennings Bryan Analyzes Record of Third Term Candidate.

HIS SUDDEN CONVERSION.

No Message In Behalf of People's Cause In Seven and a Half Years T. R. Was President.

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

Solomon says that the borrower is servant unto the lender. If this applies to one who borrows ideas Mr. Roosevelt does not recognize the obligation, for he has not only borrowed from the Democratic party as few public men have borrowed from an opposing party, but he has shown himself strangely ungrateful for the ideas taken. Of course it will not be contended that an idea can be patented. It is the only thing, in fact, that is not subject to monopoly.

Even Mr. Perkins, with all his fondness for the trust, would not contend that a monopoly in ideas could be formed and made subject to regulation by a bureau appointed by the president. Mr. Roosevelt, however, has won his popularity by the advocacy of things previously advocated by the Democrats, and still he is all the while assailing the Democrats bitterly and has shown toward them a hostility that is hard to explain.

To show the extent of his borrowing, let me enumerate some of the things which he now advocates that were advocated by the Democrats at an earlier date.

Shall the People Rule?

Take his paramount issue of the present campaign—namely, the rule of the people. The platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Denver four years ago contained the following:

"Shall the people rule? is the overwhelming issue which manifests itself in all the questions now under discussion."

Here is the very phrase which he employs, and it is not only declared to be an issue, but the overwhelming issue. It was dwelt upon by the candidates and by other speakers during the campaign, so that Mr. Roosevelt, then president, may be assumed to have had notice of it. He not only refused to admit then that it was the paramount issue, but he displayed extraordinary activity in urging upon the country Mr. Taft, whom he has since declared to be the agent of bosses and the enemy of popular government.

It would seem that he ought to make some slight acknowledgment of his indebtedness to the Democratic party for suggesting this issue to him. At least, he might put the issue in quotation marks.

He is now advocating the direct election of senators, but if he ever expressed himself in favor of this reform earlier than two years ago the fact has escaped my observation, and I have not only watched carefully, but waited anxiously, for some favorable expression from him.

Long Fight For Popular Election of Senators.

The Democratic party began the fight for the popular election of senators twenty years ago this summer, when a Democratic house of representatives at Washington passed for the first time a resolution submitting the necessary amendment. Since that time a similar resolution has been passed by the house in five other congresses—first, in 1891 by another Democratic house; then, after two congresses had elapsed, by three Republican houses, and, last, by the present Democratic house. During the twenty years the reform has been indorsed in three Democratic platforms, the platforms of 1900, 1904 and 1908, and it has been indorsed by the legislatures of nearly two-thirds of the states. Mr. Roosevelt must have known of the effort which was being made by the people to secure the popular election of senators, and yet he took no part in the fight. During this time, he was president for seven and one-half years, and it is quite certain that a ringing message from him would have brought victory to the people's cause, but no message came. Four years ago the convention which he controlled and which nominated Mr. Taft rejected, by a vote of seven to one, a resolution indorsing this reform.

Still Mr. Roosevelt did not say anything. He neither rebuked the Republican convention nor indorsed the strong plank which was included in the Denver platform. Even Mr. Taft went so far during the campaign of 1908 as to say that PERSONALLY he was INCLINED to favor the popular election of senators by the people, but Mr. Roosevelt did not even indicate an intention in that direction. Now, when the reform is practically secured—the amendment being before the states for ratification—he declares himself in favor of it. Would it not be fair for him to indicate in some way his appreciation of the long continued fight waged by the Democrats in behalf of this reform before he espoused it?

T. R. and the Income Tax.

Mr. Roosevelt is in favor of an income tax. How long since? His first indorsement of it was during his second term, and then it was suggested as a means of limiting swollen fortunes and not as a means of raising revenue. The Democratic party in cluded an income tax provision in the Wilson law of 1911. When this provision was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court by a majority of one the Democratic party renewed the fight and has contended for the income tax in three national campaigns. In 1908 the Democratic platform demanded the submission of an amendment specifically authorizing an income tax—the very amendment now before the states for ratification.

Mr. Roosevelt's candidate, Mr. Taft, declared during the campaign that an amendment was not necessary, and Mr. Roosevelt never made any argument in favor of the amendment or in favor of the principle embodied in it. The amendment has now been ratified by thirty-four states; but, so far as I know, Mr. Roosevelt has never made a speech in favor of its ratification nor, since the submission of the amendment, made a speech urging an income tax as a part of our fiscal system. It would not require any great stretch of generosity on his part to credit the Democratic party with priority in the advocacy of this reform.

Not Always For Railroad Regulation.

Mr. Roosevelt is now an advocate of railroad regulation. When did he become? The Democratic party in its platforms of 1896, 1900 and 1904 demanded an extension of the powers of the interstate commerce commission. Up to 1904 Mr. Roosevelt never discussed the subject of railroad regulation of factually or in public speech, so far as I have been able to find. Although nominated without opposition in the convention of 1904, his platform contained no promise of railroad regulation. By its attitude on the railroad question the Democratic party alienated the support of those railway officials who counted themselves Democrats, and Mr. Roosevelt, both in 1900, when he was a candidate for vice president, and in 1904, when he was a candidate for president, had the benefit of the support of the ex-Democrats. It was in 1904 that he wrote his famous letter to Mr. Harriman and in the state of New York profited by the campaign fund that Mr. Harriman raised.

When after 1904 Mr. Roosevelt took up the subject of railroad regulation he found more hearty support among the Democrats in the senate and house than among the Republicans, so that he has reason to know that the Democratic party has for a long time planted itself boldly upon the people's side on the subject of railroad regulation.

Under the circumstances we might expect some complimentary reference to our party's attitude instead of anathemas.

T. R.'s Complete Somersault.

On the subject of publicity as to campaign contributions he has not only adopted the Democratic position, but he has been compelled to turn a complete somersault in order to do so. In 1908 the Democratic platform demanded the publication before election of the names of individual contributors and the amounts contributed. Mr. Roosevelt at that time indorsed Mr. Taft's contention that the publication should be deferred until after the election, and even went so far as to give reasons for believing that it would be improper to make the publication before the election. Two years later he declared in favor of publicity before and after the election, landing on the Democratic side shortly before the law was enacted carrying out the Democratic platform on this subject. Here, surely, he ought to praise the Democratic party for the pioneer work it has done in purifying politics.

Here are a few of the things which bear the Democratic brand, and with all of his experience on the plains he will not be able to "work the brand over" so as to make it look like "T. R."

REPUBLICAN HOPE RESTS IN WILSON.

Gov. Burke Declares For Democrat and Gives His Reasons.

By JOHN BURKE.

Governor of North Dakota.

The election of Governor Wilson is the only thing that can save me from the Republican party. Four years of President Taft has split it in two. We have no reason to believe that he will be any different or that his second administration, if he is re-elected, will be any more satisfactory to the people than his first. His re-election will mean the division of the Republican party into many warring factions, which can only result in final dissolution of all.

The end will come quicker and just as certain if Roosevelt is elected, for he is no longer a Republican, but is the leader of a new party, at war with the Republican party, as it is with the Democratic party. On the other hand, if Wilson is elected the Roosevelt party will perish; the Republicans will reorganize their party, purge it of the baneful influence of corporate power and greed and make it again the grand old party it was in the days of Lincoln.

Louis D. Brandeis performed a real public service when he quoted the records to show that George W. Perkins is and always has been an enemy of union labor.

Wilson on Pennsylvania Democracy

It was getting along toward dusk when the governor reached Stroudsburg and as he leaned from the rail of the observation platform, the brakeman removed a rear light.

"They know we don't need any artificial light," said the candidate amid laughter, "and that there is no danger on the part of the Democratic candidate of a rear-end collision, because nobody is in the same running class with it so that we are not afraid of any other train catching up with us."

"The interesting thing to the whole country is that the great state of Pennsylvania, that has so long seemed entirely devoted to the interests of one party and suspicious of the Democratic party—as if the Democratic party did not understand the financial and business interests of the country—is now showing a marked inclination to turn away from the party which has not satisfied the people, and intrust its confidence to the party which is now seeking a new set of policies, in order that the country as a whole may be served. Because the Republicans aren't even satisfying themselves. I don't like to talk about it because I belong to another family, and it seems to me indelicate to talk about the affairs of a family I don't belong to."

"But evidently there is some family trouble, and some part of the family has a more tender conscience than the other, and the part that has a tender conscience doesn't exactly know what it wants to do with it. But those of us who have for sixteen years seen exactly what was coming in the year 1912 have no doubt come to where we are bound for. Because I want to call you to witness that the Democratic party has had substantially its present program of returning the government to the people for more than sixteen years. We aren't doing anything new in the year 1912. What has happened is that the people are beginning to see that after all we are willing to stay out of power on the conviction that the day was coming when upon our own platform we could serve the interests of the people of the United States."

"Now, we believe that there isn't any part of the country where the business interests are better understood than in the State of Pennsylvania. But I want to remind you of this: About half the voters in the United States are Democrats and you don't suppose that inasmuch as Democrats are engaged in every kind of enterprise they are going to cut their own throats. One of the papers in Philadelphia said very wittily the other day that if the Democrats committed economic murder on the industries of the country they would also commit economic suicide."

Lafean and Labor.

Daniel F. Lafean's record on labor legislation in congress during the recent years when the workmen of the nation have been trying to secure some recognition from that body is a fitting sequel to the thirty-five per cent. record of being absent or not voting on legislation. The leaders of labor prepared this record, men voted or acted on these questions showing how Pennsylvania congressmen voted or acted on these measures and commenting upon the conduct revealed. From this report we quote the following:

Jan. 27, 1906—Repeal of the federal eight-hour law on the isthmus of Panama. This bill was vigorously opposed by labor, but it passed the House on a vote of 120 yeas to 110 nays. 11 yeas and 105 nays on voting. Not voting.....Lafean. These men were indifferent towards labor's interests and the eight-hour law at Panama.

Dec. 6, 1906—Anti-compulsory pilotage bill by Littlefield of Maine. This measure was also opposed by labor. It failed to pass the House. Not voting.....Lafean.

Feb. 18, 1907—Hours of service bill for railroad employees. The satisfactory LaFollette bill passed the Senate was ignored by the House committee on interstate commerce and a very objectionable substitute by Esch. of Wisconsin was reported out of the committee and pressed to a vote, under suspension of the rules, which required a two-thirds majority in order to pass a bill. This Esch substitute was vigorously opposed by labor. The measure failed to get sufficient votes under the rule to pass it. Not voting.....Lafean.

March 1, 1907—The ship subsidy bill. This bill as passed by the House included a very objectionable conscription provision injuriously affecting seamen. This measure and the conscription feature particularly, have always been vigorously opposed by labor. Ayes.....Lafean. These men voted for the objectionable subsidy and conscription bill.

The child labor bill for the District of Columbia passed the House without a dissenting vote. It was strongly urged by labor. Not voting.....Lafean. These men were indifferent to the welfare of the children of the District of Columbia.

May 11, 1908—A joint resolution passed the House disapproving certain laws enacted by the legislature of New Mexico, the effect of which would have been a denial of justice to the injured parties in personal injury cases. This measure was practically an employer's liability bill and was enacted by labor. Not voting.....Lafean. Note how indifferent these congressmen were to the interests of labor.

Dec. 12, 1908—Compulsory investigation of labor disputes. This bill was opposed by labor because it was considered a step towards compulsory arbitration. It failed to pass the House. Not voting.....Lafean. These men by not voting showed their indifference to labor's interests.

June 21, 1908—A motion was made in the House to instruct the conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill to insist upon disagreeing with the Senate. The Senate had stricken the Hughes amendment from the sundry civil bill. Not voting.....Lafean. These men were indifferent to labor's interests.

June 23, 1908—The House conferees reported a disagreement on the Hughes amendment and recommended "that the House recede and concur," which meant that the House agree with the Senate and strike the Hughes proviso from the bill. The motion carried by a vote of 138 to 130, 16 answering present and 105 not voting. On this final and most important vote.....Lafean answered "present."

Status of a Road Bond Issue.

Ten States have adopted comprehensive road building programs in the last three years and within the next twelve months a dozen more will have committed themselves to definite plans for highway improvements. The United States government is assisting the general movement by construction of model roads on its reservations and by experimental work to determine the best wearing materials and means of keeping roads in order and free from dust. In some States, notably New York and Massachusetts the road building programs are about to be enlarged, and in Ohio and Virginia the rebuilding of numerous highways is to be undertaken on a systematic basis. Experiments similar to those now being made by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department being now under way.

Pennsylvania has a road building program for the first time. The Legislature of 1911 having enacted a plan which had been demanded for years by taxpayers, farmers, land owners, economic students, members of the State Grange, automobilists, and others. This program was inaugurated through an appropriation of $3,000,000 for road building purposes in 1911, but to carry it out it is proposed to amend the constitution so as to permit issuance of bonds for road construction. If the next Legislature approves of the amendment the people will vote on the proposition next year. The State is now without debt, because its sinking fund contains thousands of dollars above the outstanding obligations, and as the State has adopted a road building plan it will be up to the people to furnish the means to make it effective.

If the bond issue should by any chance be defeated good roads in Pennsylvania would be set back perhaps ten years. The constitution prohibits the submission of the same amendment oftener than once in five years. Thus it would be 1917 or perhaps 1919 or even later before another road bond issue proposition could be laid before the people. If the State should be so badly off financially that it should be rejected at the polls, it is not believed to be at all probable that the bond issue will fail of approval next year. Too much depends upon it and too many people are interested in providing good roads. It would make the building of new highways dependent on appropriations from current revenues with consequent reduction in allowances for construction of "State aid" highways, systematic repair of State roads.

sign posts, bridge work and township roads. By providing funds for the main highways from the proceeds of the bond issue the Legislature will be enabled to be more liberal in allowances to townships.

It is not the intention to issue the bonds all at once, but only as needed. All of the contractors experienced in road building in Pennsylvania could not handle in five years fifty million dollars worth of work such as is demanded by the State Highway Department. The plan is to let contracts gradually, so that the best work can be assured, and to issue bonds as needed with provision that they may be paid off after five years. In this manner the burden will be distributed and the State secure improved roads in a systematic manner.

Fall Planting of Trees.

State Zoologist H. A. Surface receives many inquiries at his office in Harrisburg, concerning the fall planting of trees. To these he has replied as follows:

"I have had opportunity to examine one thousand apple and peach trees planted last fall, and several thousand planted this spring, and must say that there was a far larger percentage of the fall planted trees alive and growing during the summer than of the spring planted trees. This applies to both peach and apple. In planting trees in the fall I recommend that the earth be tramped very firmly about their roots when it is neither wet enough to cake, nor so dry as to fail to cohere slightly. Set the tree two or three inches deeper than it grew in the nursery; tramp the earth firmly about its roots; and after this is tramped fill in the earth about the trunk until it is covered to a height of six inches above the level of the ground. This mounding of the trunk of the tree helps to protect it from injuries by mice as well as from winter freezing, and is also of special value in keeping the wind from swaying the tree and making a hole in the earth beside its trunk.

All the branches should be cut back to some extent, or about half their length. It is not necessary to prune carefully to an outer bud as would be done in the spring, as there is liable to be some drying and dying back and even freezing during the winter. In the spring when the buds are swelling the trees should be pruned again more carefully, cutting back half of the remainder of the top. At least a partial pruning at the time of fall setting prevents drying of the twigs, and makes it impossible for a heavy load of sleet or ice to accumulate on the branches and thus break them."

I recommend planting a few trees of different good varieties selected for home use, but I do not recommend further extensive commercial planting at present. A great many recently planted young orchards are sure to prove disastrous failures. What we need in this country is better care of the trees that we have rather than the reckless planting of so many more. Our aim should be quality rather than quantity, and this can be obtained only by concentration of skillful effort in fruit production rather than by the attempt to grow a greater number of trees."

Paint Better.

Better isn't enough; paint best. A man bought "cheap" paint; saved 20c or 30 or 40 or 50c a gallon, didn't he?

Yes, he bought 40 or 20 or 60 or 80 percent more gallons; how much did he make on his paint?

And he paid for painting those gallons—a fair days work is a gallon—how much did he make on the labor part of his job?

He lost a quarter or third of his money.

How long will it last? not his money, the paint?

Perhaps half as long as Devco. How long will his money last, if he buys other stuff as he bought that paint?

Better buy the best paint: it makes the least bill and least-often.

ARENDTSTVILLE.

About a year ago Robert Cullison sold his small fruit farm near this place to Emory D. Wentz, about 36 acres for $1950. Mr. Cullison has bought it back again for $2700.

Several days ago when Harry C. Hartman of near this place was bridling the horses from the pasture, the one he was riding, when it passed over a plank culvert slipped and fell and Mr. Hartman was thrown off, and broke his collar bone. Dr. Wm. E. Wolf of this town set it and he is getting along as well as can be expected.

How to Hold Your Body.

Glance at the next consumptive you meet. Nine times out of ten his chest will be flat. This may be because of his disease. The chances are, however, that one reason why he got consumption was because he didn't carry himself properly.

You are not taking good care of your body unless you hold yourself in a natural position. When the body is erect your heart, lungs, stomach, etc., have the maximum amount of space. The minute you bend or strain your body you are cramping or putting out of place some of its organs.

When you stand, make yourself as tall as possible. Your chest should be high; your abdomen flat. Your head should be erect. Allow your shoulders to rest easily upon your chest without straining any of your muscles. Your legs should be straight and your weight should be borne chiefly upon the balls of the feet.

Don't bend the spine in the middle. Don't stoop, with abdomen and shoulders slumped, as many men do when they stand with their hands in their pockets. Don't crook your back when you sit in a chair and don't slip down until your weight is on the small of your back.

If you are going to treat your body fairly, give its organs plenty of room by keeping the trunk erect and straight. Remember this, no matter what you are doing—walking, running, skating, standing or sitting—Karl de Schweinitz, Executive Secretary, Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

An Immense Ballot.

At Harrisburg, officials at the state department who are checking up nominations filed for the November election predict that the ballot this year will be the largest since the enactment of the present law. If the nominations for electors and state candidates stand there will be nine electoral tickets in the field, those of the Washington, Bull Moose and Roosevelt Progressive being identical. The time for withdrawal and making substitutions will end fourteen days before the election when the nominations must be certified to the counties for printing. Contests must be filed before October 9.

Electoral tickets have been filed by the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist, Bull Moose, Industrialist, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Progressive and Washington.

State tickets have been filed by the Keystone and Progressive parties, the latter represented by John H. Nugent, Philadelphia, for congress at large.

Scattering nominations have been made in districts under the Roosevelt, National Progressive, Independent, Constitutional Workingmen's and other party names.

A member of the family had an attack of kidney complaint after the measles and was left with weak kidneys. He also had backache and pains in his sides and whenever he lifted, he was in distress. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended and he gave them a trial. We never thought a medicine could give relief so quickly. Why Women Are Not Rich.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimetre of blood.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anemic. The blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherrybark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed or rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a 'prolonged stomach and liver,' writes Mr. J. S. D. Lively, of Washburn, Tenn., Route 2, Box 10. 'All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and further advise anyone to take Dr. Pierce's medicine before their diseases have run so far that there is no chance to be cured.'"

A LARGE CONTRACT

When L. M. Buehler the enterprising druggist, first offered a 50 cent package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, and guaranteed to return the money if it did not cure, he thought it probable from his experience with other medicines for these diseases that he would have a good many packages returned. But although he has sold hundreds of bottles, not one has been brought back.

To those suffering with dizziness, headache, poor digestion, constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific offers quick relief. It is an invaluable boon to all who feel uncomfortable after eating, and is today the popular dinner pill in all the large cities. Advertisement.

Of Pianos for this sale, which further enables me to cut in prices on account of freight and cut in prices for car load lots. It would be unwise for you to purchase a Piano without coming here to see and hear the Pianos offered at this Exhibition and Sale. Don't let this opportunity slip, for it means a saving of from $75 to $100 on every Piano, if you have the remotest idea of buying a Piano. $10 to $15 in cash is all it costs you down to have any of these beautiful bargains delivered to your home; $6 to $15 per month keeps it there. I will give you a few of the prices, which are extremely low for the quality of the Pianos:

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Barre, Maine. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

SENATOR MARTIN ATTACKED.

The Chambersburg Republican organ has made an attack on Senator Wm. A. Martin, trying to condemn him because he has been an honest Democrat as State Senator and appealing to partisan feeling to arouse opposition. We believe the hundreds of Republicans who joined with the Democrats in electing Senator Martin did so because they believed he would be an honest Democrat, and that he has been honest and true will be the reason why many Republicans will give him their support this year. The organ attacking Senator Martin does not know what it is talking about in advocating the election of a lawyer so he can talk. Lawyers are an exclusive class, there being about one lawyer for every 2,000 citizens, while about one-half the population are farmers. The most representative citizen to be sent to the State Senate from the 33rd District is a farmer. To advocate the election of a lawyer to the State Senate of Pennsylvania so he can talk sounds like a joke. Legislation in that body is not accomplished by talking, it is ordered by the interests and corporations. The recent Penrose-Plinn correspondence made public, plainly showed that the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Standard Oil give the orders to Penrose that control legislation in the Pennsylvania Legislature. In the Senate Senator McNichol of Philadelphia is the representative of the Penrose Machine and interests back of it. This machine gives the absolute orders what legislation is to be supported or killed. The most difficult job for a Republican is to own himself in the Pennsylvania State Senate. He obeys the machine, and if he refuses he is ironed out by the steam roller. Talk by a Republican in the Senate becomes merely a bluff to hide the fact that he is taking orders from the machine. There are hundreds of Republicans in Adams and Franklin counties who are sick and tired of this kind of representation and gladly support an honest and true Democrat who will work and vote for the interests of his constituents as Senator Martin has done.

CONGRESSIONAL ISSUES.

Voting for a congressman in the Adams-York district is a clearly defined issue about which there can be no mistake. Every voter if he has any desire to see the light can plainly recognize what he is voting for. He can vote his convictions and get exactly what they stand for.

Woodrow Wilson stands for a revision of the tariff downward in the interests of lower prices of living and for the elimination of monopoly. He stands for trust legislation which will prevent the control of prices through monopoly. He stands for the people against special privilege. These are not empty phrases. They mean that a Democratic congress passed a farmers' free list, saving to the farmer hundreds of dollars. They passed a downward revision of the wool schedule which meant cheaper clothing for every one. This legislation was blocked by Taft. If the voter desires the legislation a Democratic congress put into form and Taft killed, he will vote for Wilson and he will vote to send Brodbeck to congress so that he may give his voice and vote to the legislation planned for the people by Woodrow Wilson, Champ Clark, Oscar Underwood, A. Mitchell Palmer and others.

The voter who is content with present conditions, content with protection maintained and made higher by special privilege, content with the present high cost of living ever growing higher, content with the grasp of monopoly, content with a do-nothing policy of standpatism, such a voter will give his support to Taft and then vote for Lafean to support Taft, Cannon, Aldrich and their kind and program.

The voter who is in favor of extending the term of a president for a third term and breaking all the traditions in so doing and thereby make it possible to have a president indefinitely or for life a voter who would overturn the sentiments of a Washington and Jefferson to give a man a longer term that they believed was safe or wise, a voter who is satisfied that Bill Plinn shall hold in his hands the political destinies of the great Keystone State and content to have Dave Alleman distribute the federal patronage in this district through Bill Plinn, any voter capable of being content with such a program will easily see his way to vote for Roosevelt and Bair.

GREASING.

D. B. Alleman in his paper of last week performed a characteristic contemptible act. He referred to Howard G. Blocher of Littlestown as having accosted a Bull Moose with the remark "Are you one of those who have been greased by D. B. Alleman" and then voices the threat that the officials of the bank employing Mr. Blocher will provide against a repetition of such remarks. In other words because Mr. Blocher states the truth about Alleman dealing in grease, Alleman wants Mr. Blocher thrown out of his job in the bank, a high handed performance. Mr. Blocher used the right word as to Alleman, who wanted $300 worth of grease to support Chas. H. Wilson and knife Elias Fissel for sheriff, who asked a Democratic official for $300 worth of grease last fall for the support of his paper, who has been asking big sums of grease from candidates of both parties for years for the support of his paper. As a dealer in political grease he was rightly termed by Mr. Blocher. This is the same individual who is said to have asked the grease of the whole Littlestown post-office for the support of Lafean two years ago. He has refused to tell how much grease he has had from Plinn to make the Bull Moose party go in Adams county and Bill Plinn has said he spent dollars of grease in this district. The Alleman fat-frying plant from political parties and candidates is a stench in the nostrils.

QUESTIONS.

D. B. Alleman makes a face at the questions the Compiler is asking and one who can not and dare not make answer to the questions has good reason to dislike them. He refuses to answer questions as to how much he asked Lafean for support of his paper, or as to how much Bill Plinn has been paying him. Perhaps he might let the public he is trying to sell his paper to know how much he may have asked Penrose for at any time. He has blown hot and cold on the Penrose issue. Why? Had the asking of money or other things anything to do with it. Perhaps this question could be better answered by Penrose the next time he testifies before the campaign subscription committee in Washington. We would suggest the following line of questions to be asked of Penrose: Has D. B. Alleman ever asked money of Penrose for the support of his paper? Has Alleman ever been paid any money for the support of Republican candidates? Did Alleman ever present a bill of $300 for the support of a Republican to party managers in Gettysburg and a second bill for the same campaign of $600 to Penrose? Did Penrose ever settle such a bill, after demanding and getting credit for the sum Alleman received from home party managers?

POLITICAL PIRACY.

The "Star and Sentinel" of last week contained the following editorial: "There is a newspaper in Adams county which for years has had a demoralizing influence upon the politics of this community, but fortunately its practices have become so generally known that its influence in matters political has now become a minus quantity."

"Claiming to be independent and not affiliated with any political party, this paper for years has taken an active part in local politics and has pretended to give the voters the benefit of its unbiased judgment as to the qualifications or shortcomings of candidates for public office, while as a matter of fact its support or opposition to candidates was given as a consideration for hard cash, and not as a result of conscientious thought or honest conviction."

"For years aspirants for office in this county, although heavily taxed to meet their necessary election expenses, have been 'held up' by this paper for large sums of money, and in those cases where the poor candidate has failed to shell out, he has been viciously attacked in its editorial columns."

"A newspaper conducted along these lines is unfair not only to the candidates, but especially so to the public which subscribes for and reads the paper."

"This newspaper has sailed over the stormy political seas like the Buccaneer of old, levying tribute on candidates of every political party, and making candidates, who refuse to pay the captain of the ship, walk the plank of unjust and unmerited newspaper abuse. Needless to say a ship of this kind carries at its mast head no flag except the black flag of political out-lavry."

"Its policy is a matter of dollars and cents, its support of candidates is a question of barter and sale, and its editorial utterances should excite no respect nor interest, other than a natural desire to know—How much did it cost?"

"Almost anyone who reads this will at once know the paper referred to, and so it is unnecessary to mention its name; but in case you have any doubts in your mind, simply ask some candidate who has run for office in Adams county during the past ten or fifteen years, the name of the newspaper which told him to 'Come across with the coin.'"

Wilson and Marshall Rally.

The Wilson and Marshall Club of New Oxford will hold a grand rally on Friday evening of next week, Oct. 25. The speakers will be Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer and Hon. Wm. McSherry. Associate Judge W. Howard Dicks will be chief marshal of the street parade. A more extended notice of the meeting will be given next week.

Wilson Stands For a Principle—Will You Stand By Him?

Woodrow Wilson is a vastly different order of man than you find among the ranks of many good men in practical political life.

Woodrow Wilson is not among the great majority of politicians and business men, otherwise estimable characters, who believe that the end justifies the means, who are honest in a commercial or political sense.

The candidate of the progressive voters of the country not only does not believe in the doctrine of "anything to win," but he insists on plain old fashioned honesty in every detail of his campaign.

Woodrow Wilson proposes to win on the merits of his candidacy and platform or not at all.

"Clean hands or no fight" is Wilson's ultimatum to his supporters throughout the country.

No Tainted Money For Wilson

Not a dollar of questionable money will be spent to elect Woodrow Wilson.

The Democratic National Committee is heart and soul in accord with the candidate's views.

And the corrupting influences, with no political faith, casting about to win a foothold in the new government with bribes of ill-gotten gains, have despaired of reaching Wilson or his campaigners.

They have gone to the enemy, whoever that enemy may be. It is a matter of common knowledge that the "Interests" are using all their political funds to defeat Wilson.

This makes it your fight.

What the American People Need to Know

The people have constantly made the mistake of believing that this is a money-ridden nation.

Such is only the case insofar as the People fail to get together and so permit the few to control the dishonest representatives they, by mistake, elect to office.

The actual money power of the People is still greater than that of the Interests.

The Progressive People of the country, if they get together, can buy and sell the Corrupting Influences and destroy their financial power.

So Woodrow Wilson and his managers believe that not only is it the only clean method but the most practical method for the Progressive People of the country to supply the Woodrow Wilson Campaign Fund.

The People to Fight With THEIR Dollars

This year a popular president is to be elected with the People's money.

The Woodrow Wilson Campaign Fund is to be collected from the rank and file of the Progressive Voters of the country.

The bills of the Democratic National Committee are to be paid, not with the thousands of the Interests, but with the individual dollars of the earnest, eager voters who desire clean, efficient government and who are willing to help Wilson as he wants to be helped.

Money thus needed is not spent in improper ways or in any manner similar to the way in which the funds of the Interests are disbursed.

But we have to tell the voters of the country about Woodrow Wilson. We have to tell them what he has done. We have to tell them what he stands for. We have to point out to them the important planks in his platform. All this means that to hold up our end we will be obliged to spend as much money as those who oppose us.

This means that every man or woman who believes in Wilson should be willing to contribute to his cause.

Let the supporters of Wilson help us to spread the Wilson gospel to the four winds.

Let the Progressive Voters battle this year with their pocketbooks as well as their ballots.

We Solicit Popular Subscriptions—Can You Give From $1 to $20?

Of course, you can—and you are glad to support the cause in this way.

Practically every voter can afford to give $1 to aid the Wilson Campaign. A great many can give $2. A great many can give $5. And there are lots and lots of progressive voters who will be eager to donate from $10 to $20.

These are the kind of contributions we want.

And we will be proud to receive from thousands, who can only afford $1, their $1 contributions. We want to hear from every man who has a dollar to give.

This year the man with the dollar must defeat the government traducer who spends his thousands.

Get Club Subscriptions

If you know many Wilson men, if you work among many Wilson men, head a list with your name and money and get the others to join you with their subscriptions.

Then send your list with the money to C. R. Crane, Vice Chairman, Finance Committee, Democratic National Committee, 900 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

No loyal Wilson man can do more than this to assure Wilson's victory at the polls in November.

How to Contribute to the Wilson Campaign Fund

In this way you will be listed as a Wilson contributor. A Souvenir Receipt, handsomely lithographed, well worth framing, will be sent to you. Your letter will help in the fight by encouraging your friends.

Do everything you can to hold up Wilson's hands in his clean campaign for the people who do the work and fighting of the country.

REPUBLICANS' EXTRAVAGANCE

Government Cost More Than Doubled Under Roosevelt.

DEMOCRATS' GREAT RECORD.

Startling Figures Which Show That the Cost of Our National Existence and the High Cost of Living Must Be Reduced.

Under a proper downward revision of the Republican tariff schedules the people of the United States would save $2,000,000,000 each year, or over $100 per family on manufactured goods alone.

President Taft's vetoes of the wool tariff bill and the steel tariff measure passed by a Democratic house COST THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES ABOUT $650,000,000 PER ANNUM.

The cost of conducting the federal government MORE THAN DOUBLED between the close of President Cleveland's second administration (Democratic) and the beginning of President Roosevelt's second administration (Republican).

As the DIRECT RESULT OF HIGH REPUBLICAN TARIFF SCHEDULES the people of the United States pay a tax FROM NINE TO SEVENTY-EIGHT PER CENT on food and ordinary household articles used in the home by every family, rich and poor.

The total cost of running the federal government in 1890 was $35,000,000.

The amount appropriated at a single session of the Sixty-first congress for the fiscal year 1911—$1,027,133,446.44—was more than double the amount—$94,496,055.13—appropriated for the fiscal years 1897 and 1898 at both sessions of the Fifty-fourth congress, the last congress of the second Cleveland administration.

Only eight years elapsed between the close of the second administration of President Cleveland and the beginning of the second administration of President Roosevelt and yet the amount appropriated during the four years of the latter—$3,422,293,377.13—was more than double that appropriated in the four years Mr. Cleveland was at the helm—viz. $1,871,509,857.47.

For 1910, the last fiscal year provided for in congress under President Roosevelt, the highwater mark in appropriations—$1,044,401,857.12—was reached.

President Taft's estimate to the last session of congress for government support for the fiscal year was $1,040,648,026.55.

In other words, governmental expenses for the FOUR YEARS of President Cleveland's administration (Democratic) were only $830,861,551.92 more than President Taft's (Republican) estimate of the amount necessary to cover the expenses of ONE YEAR of President Taft's administration.

Congressman John J. Fitzgerald of New York, a Democrat and chairman of the committee on appropriations, in addressing the house Aug. 26, 1912, on the subject of appropriations said, "Thoughtful men have watched with alarm the rapid increase in the cost of government in the United States." He further said that two causes seem responsible for many present evils:

"One, the UNFAIR AND UNJUST SYSTEM OF TAXATION by which an undue share of income by those whose circumstances in life are not considered more than reasonably comfortable is taken through our customs laws for the support of our government; the other, the difficulty or inability to readjust our system of taxation and to remove many taxes from the necessities of life, so long as the GOVERNMENT IS EXTRAVAGANTLY CONDUCTED, or the instrumentalities provided for the conduct of the public service are either inefficient or are not utilized so as to render the most effective and comprehensive results."

Mr. Fitzgerald then called attention to the fact that the Democratic party pledged itself if intrusted with power to do two things—REDUCE TARIFF DUTIES AND RETRENCH PUBLIC EXPENDITURES by eliminating waste in administration and the abolition of useless, menial offices.

The Republicans talk about tariff revision, and yet when a Democratic house in fulfilling Democratic promises to the people reduced the tariff, a Republican president vetoed the measure. "By their works shall ye know them."

Democrats in every state of the Union should organize and prepare for polling a record breaking vote Nov. 5. Be it remembered that no matter how certain victory seems, overconfidence is always dangerous.

Is there any reason why the Democratic party should go out of existence simply because Mr. Roosevelt has taken up the Progressive measures adopted by the Democrats eighteen years ago?—W. J. Bryan.

Mr. Roosevelt stood as a guarantor for Mr. Taft. Mr. Bryan says, "Now, when Roosevelt has failed so utterly in his judgment of men, I ask can he pass correct judgment on himself?"

Paying For a Bride in Africa.

In most parts of Africa the native bridegroom has to pay the father of the bride in kind for his wife. In the case of a regular marriage the amount due to the father varies in accordance with the sex of the first child born, a girl being of less value than a boy. The payments consist of cattle, sheep, hoes, spears, perhaps, and sometimes other useful articles. The final payments are often not completed until years after the marriage takes place, and the bridegroom is considered fair prey by all the bride's relations. This results in endless disputes. Payments made are often repudiated by the recipient. The amount agreed upon is constantly matter for argument, and argument ends in fighting, raids on one another and sometimes a long drawn out feud.

Kingsley's Love For His Wife.

Even a brief holiday at the seaside was to Charles Kingsley too long an absence from his wife. "This place, 'tis perfect," he wrote on one occasion, "but it seems a dream and imperfect without you. Blessed be God for the rest, though I never before felt the loneliness of being without the beloved being whose every look and word and motion is the keynote of my life. People talk of love ending at the altar. Fools!"

English Fish Laws.

Fish, because of its tendency rapidly to decompose, holds a peculiar position among foods. In England it is the subject of a special act of parliament. So long ago as 1498 men knew the evil consequences resulting from eating mackerel of uncertain postmortem age, so they passed an act providing that except during the hours of divine service this fish could be sold on Sunday. That act has never been repealed.

All Full.

"Sistern and broderen," said an old dandy in testimony meeting. "Ah, I wants to sit to hebbin and sque-e-zo down into one of dem back seats." "Nar, nar, I broder," said a deacon who had just come in. "Dem back seats been filled up long 'go."—Exchange.

What She Will Sometimes Admit.

"Does your wife ever admit that she is wrong in an argument?" "No." "The nearest she ever comes to it is to say that I'm not as big a chump as I look."—Detroit Free Press.

How He Stopped.

"How did the doctor persuade you to give up smoking?" "Made his bill so big I couldn't afford to buy any more tobacco."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

We know books by reading them, horses by handling them, houses by living in them and men by trusting them.
